

AROUND THE CIRCLE IN THE SOCIETIES OF WASHINGTON

Work of Winter in All Organizations Has Settled Down to Steady Progress.

Pathfinder Players Give Successful Performance of Farce, "A Loyal Friend."

National Circle, No. 624, Protracted Home Circle, gave a Halloween entertainment and dance on Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows' Hall.

The entertainment was provided by the Pathfinder Dramatic Club, who presented the four act comedy, "A Loyal Friend." Harry S. Spittle played the title role, Miss F. B. Callahan was the dashing young widow, Miss U. Havard played the flirting wife well, and William M. La Roche was a Spaniard. The Irish character parts were in the hands of John W. Reynolds and Miss Mary Ford. John S. Wagner was a forgiving husband, and Miss Marguerite Perkins, S. S. Hessler, Jr., and William Nolan had smaller roles.

Illustrated songs were given by William L. Thornton. Songs and cakewalking were given by Miss Lola Williams and Miss Olive Johnson.

The entertainment was under the direction of William T. Raley and Joseph F. Sullivan, general manager and stage director, respectively, of the club.

FRATERNAL

The regular visitation to Logan Tribe, No. 8, of Georgetown, was made Thursday evening. The great chiefs were greeted by a large gathering of Red Men. The books and paraphernalia of the tribe were examined. The chiefs of Logan were examined in the unwritten work of the order. Talks were made by Great Sachem D. J. Marvin, Great Representative D. A. Dugan, and Past Great Sachem J. J. Caylor. Junior Sagamore J. Z. Young presented the great sachem some flowers.

The annual visitation of the great council to Sioux Tribe, No. 18, took place Tuesday, at the wigwam, 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. There were visitors from Maryland, New Hampshire and New Jersey. The work of the tribe was examined. The chiefs of Logan Tribe, No. 8, and instrumental selections by the Logan Tribe string trio, F. and C. Madison and C. Radcliffe. J. Collins did some character entertaining. Remarks were made by Great Sachem D. J. Marvin. Past Great Sachem A. Thompson, Past Sachem Wheelock, of New Hampshire, Sagamore Young, of Logan Tribe, and others.

COLUMBIA ODD FELLOWS IMPORT EXTRA BIG GOLF

RED MEN AND JUNIOR ORDER HELP DEAD BROTHER'S FAMILY

The benefit entertainment and dance given under the auspices of White Eagle Tribe, No. 17, Improved Order of Red Men, and the Junior Order of American Mechanics, for the relief of the family of a deceased brother, at National Rifles Hall, last Wednesday, was largely attended.

The orders were assisted in the presentation of the tableaux by a detail of the First Regiment of Minute Men under the command of Capt. John C. McConnell. Adjutant Charles A. Sidman was present as the representative of Colonel Winter.

ORIGINAL PYTHIAN KNIGHT

TALKS TO CALANTHE LODGE

A notable feature of the visitation of Grand Chancellor James W. Carter and grand lodge officers to Calanthe Lodge, No. 31, Knights of Pythias, Monday, at the Pythian Temple, was the address of Grand Representative D. L. Burnett. Mr. Burnett was the scribe of Washington Lodge, No. 1, K. of P., organized on February 19, 1847, the date of the foundation of the order, which has grown to a membership of 23,000. He gave many interesting incidents connected with the history of the order.

Columbia Lodge, No. 24, was visited Wednesday evening at the Pythian Temple. Players were presented to Grand Chancellor James W. Carter and Grand Master-at-Arms, G. Frank Day. Next week visitation will be made to Century Lodge No. 36, Monday evening, and Union Lodge, No. 22, Wednesday evening, at the Pythian Temple.

G. P. O. BOOKBENDERS TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Bookbenders of the Government Printing Office will hold an entertainment and dance on November 21, at National Rifles Armory. The proceeds will be used for entertaining the delegates to the international convention of bookbenders to be held next June.

The affair will be in charge of a committee composed of J. P. Whitelaw, chairman; John M. Fox, William C. Connor, Joseph Broadbent, A. J. Magawson, R. T. Anderson and A. M. Russell.

After the addenda the following program was given: Overture by orchestra; solo by Mrs. Adkins, with violin obligato by Mr. Wrightman; presentation of glass bowl to Dr. Fales by Miss Adkins; solo with violin obligato by the Misses Shuman; recitation by the Rev. Charles A. Smith; presentation of roses to the worthy matron of Esther Chapter, by Mrs. Schaeffer, past grand matron of Maryland; solo by Mr. Gibson; presentation of cigars to J.
